

Walking and Talking Public Pedagogies

November 28 – 29, 2019
Footscray, Melbourne

Keynote speakers:

Associate Professor Stephanie Springgay

A leading scholar in research-creation methodologies with a focus on walking, affect, new materialisms and posthumanisms, queer theory, and contemporary art as pedagogy.

Professor Tony Birch

His research interests centre on climate change and indigenous knowledge systems, while his highly acclaimed novels include Shadowboxing (2006), Father's Day (2009), Blood (2011), The Promise (2014), Ghost River (2015) and most recently, The White Girl (2019).

For more information about the conference and to register please visit:

<http://www.publicpedagogies.org/conference/>

The annual conference of the Public Pedagogies Institute features a range of presentations, performances, panels and workshops across the diverse field of public pedagogies: learning, teaching, research and practice that transcends the borders of formal education institutions.